BIG MAC® LAND SATISFIES HUNGRY BASEBALL FANS

St. Louis, July 14, 2009 – Last night several homeruns were hit into Big Mac Land during the homerun contest. Now any ticket holder that shows their homerun contest ticket at a McDonald's® Restaurant in the St. Louis or Metro East Area will receive one free Big Mac Sandwich. Fans who have tickets to the "Big Game", scheduled for tonight, also have an opportunity to receive a free Big Mac Sandwich. Tonight, if any player from any team hits a homerun into Big Mac Land, they can go into any local McDonald's seven days following the event, show their game ticket, and get a free Big Mac.

"Big Mac Land has received quite a beating from Albert Pujols this season and with the league's best players participating in the upcoming events, we have a gut feeling our sign will get a few more letters knocked out," said Mike Klak, McDonald's St. Louis/Metro East Co-op President.

In 1998, McDonald's transformed 181 terrace reserve left-field seats (section 272 in Busch Stadium) into Big Mac Land. Since that time, more than one million Big Mac Sandwiches have been given away as a result of homeruns landing in Big Mac Land. In addition to the chance of getting free Big Mac Sandwiches, Big Mac Land ticket holders can expect to receive visits from Ronald McDonald and the Fredbird girls. During the first inning, ticket holders have the chance to see their faces on the jumbotron and will leave the game with a Big Mac Land bag full of free McDonald's food cards and Big Mac Land give-away items.
